Overview

AMS deploys solutions based on customized industry and experiential best practice. Our team of executive level consultants will work with your organization to craft the best implementation of any service, solution suite and correlating best practice. This holistic approach to creating business solutions will render high value ROI, continuity and embedded value.

Projects fail for a myriad of reasons, most notably for communication and human resource related issues. Oftentimes, with the right approach, these issues can be solved with limited impact on your project.

Our Project Recovery and Intervention programs are driven by a proven methodology rendering targeted deliverables for project teams relative to revitalizing their project. Our approach focuses on the process, people, and technology providing clients with not only project management skills, but the people management competencies so crucial to success.

The program is designed to breathe new life into projects that may be exhibiting signs of trouble. This methodology has been time tested on intervention projects of all types for clients around the globe saving teams lost production and organizations millions of dollars.

The program may differ depending on your organization's needs and the project type. It typically includes the following components:

- Assessment of project risks and development of mitigation strategies
- On-site assessment and realignment of project team competencies vs. roles and responsibilities
- Review and adjustment of project schedule and resource allocation
- Development of communication/decision protocol and escalation strategies
- Setup of project documentation procedures and protocol
- Ongoing project oversight to closeout

AMS can customize any best practice to fit your organizational needs.
