

Course Description

Leading a Committed and Innovative Global Team through Vision AMS269

Overview

This three-day training program is designed to cover the dimensions and principles of effective leadership. Participants will be given an opportunity to claim their power to change. The training will emphasize the principles of "fusion", a joining together rather than "fission", the splitting apart or separation. Participants will learn how to prevent rigid boundaries and constricted information flow. They will learn how to utilize vision as a powerful tool to encourage innovation, including meaning and inspiration to others.

Learning Objectives

- Create a sense of community and connection that reduces barriers and impediments to organizational effectiveness
- Lead in ways that produce commitment in others
- Build a climate of innovation and creativity
- Enhance and increase emotional intelligence
- Use vision versus a survival mode for creating desired organizational shifts

Format

This program is a highly interactive and adaptive.

Duration

Three Days

Who Should Attend

Senior Directors and Executives would benefit from taking this program.